

Yearly Tarot Forecast

Before reviewing this information I would like for you to take a moment to understand the true purpose of the information being presented to you. In the past tarot readings have been interpreted as predictions of fate, fate meaning what will happen-this definition leaves you feeling helpless and at the mercy of what will be. The true purpose of tarot is very different, the cards are tools that give us signs and signs alerting us to upcoming situations, challenges and possible struggles providing us with guidance for dealing with those occurrences in order to allow us to deal with them in the best, least painful way possible. While you may not be able to change the circumstance the cards allow you the opportunity to prepare for the situation and make the best choices possible.

Focus for 2015: Strength

Affirmation: "I have deep inner strength and glorious vitality."

2015 brings with it world wide changes, phenomenal shifts, huge growth and stepping into a new way of being for you. You are being called to accept and recognize that you have the strength to pull it all off!!

January 2015

Focus: Purification

Affirmation: "My Energy Field is Being Cleansed of All I do not need"

New beginnings require you to purge old energy. This month is about ridng yourself of all that no longer serve you in all areas: old emotions, old energy, old beliefs, old relationships and connections, as well as old habits and physical clutter. You are being called to step out of the old allowing space and opportunity for new beginnings in the months to come.

February 2015

Focus: Healing

Affirmation: "Phenomenal healing energy flows through every cell in my body"

Last month was about riding yourself of the energy that no longer serves you, which has cleared the way for any old emotions or hurts to surface so that they can receive the healing they require. This month will be emotional and you will find yourself easily depleted. Daily self care is a must this month in order to retain balance and good health. Listen to yourself and meet your needs, keep your schedule as light as possible, it is not wise to take on new responsibilities at this time.

March 2015

Focus: Delight

Affirmation: "I delight in my world, and divine joy fills me."

The last two months have been necessary, but have also been physically demanding and draining. This month you are being called to have fun!! Not only have fun, but be fun!! Let your inner child play. Giggle at childish things, enjoy the simple things and be spontaneous. While this sounds like being irresponsible to your rational senses, it is not, keep your responsibilities in order but slow down enough to Delight in life, through this pleasure your body and mind will find the restoration and balance it requires to heal from any trauma incurred over the previous months of this year.

April 2015

Focus: Fulfillment

Affirmation: "Joy abounds in all areas of my life."

This month you will reap the fruits of your labor. You have spent the first part of this year planning and preparing, healing and allowing, staying in faith, waiting for the timing to be right and the time is now. You are being urged not to miss the forest for the trees. With the fruits of the labor, comes the responsibility of tending to the fruits, which means an increase in your work load. Be sure to leave yourself time to enjoy and recognize that you have created your abundance, not getting lost in the higher physical demand.

May 2015

Focus: Adventure

Affirmation: "Wonderful New Experiences Fill My Life."

This month is a time of expansion in growth in all areas. It is time to step out of your comfort zone and confidently take some risks. If this brings up safety and security issues take the time to examine these, but remember without risks change cannot occur and without change you stay stuck where you are yearning for more. Remember to ask for support when you need it, but do not allow others to talk you out of what you know in your heart is calling you to do.

June 2015

Focus: Compassion

Affirmation: "The Vibration of Compassion Shines Through My Every Cell!!"

This month you are being called to move into a place of awareness that allows you to feel and act compassionately toward all things (yourself, others, situations etc.) even those things that you do not understand. Believe that it is through your ability to be compassionate that the understanding and acceptance will come. Remember that when you are struggling to find compassion there is always a deeper meaning for you, take the time to find this for yourself and you will reach levels of acceptance and compassion you never thought possible.

July 2015

Focus: Love

Affirmation: "I am wonderful! I receive and give love today and always!"

This month you are being asked to open yourself to receiving the love you deserve. You are being asked to accept in a new way that you deserve love simply because you are, not because of what you do. Allow love to flow into and through you, accepting that you are deserving. Remember that you can only give what you have and by allowing yourself to receive all the love you deserve; you open yourself to give that same love to others.

August 2015

Focus: Truth

Affirmation: "I live my truth"

This month is about being honest about who you are and what you want to create. The biggest challenge to living your truth is often, knowing what it is. You are being called to be honest with yourself this month, discovering your deepest truths and accepting them without judgment. It is only by admitting these truths and accepting them that you can live your life to its fullest potential. Embrace who you are and accept that it is okay.

September 2015

Focus: Miracles

Affirmation: "My Life Is A Miracle!"

This month you are being asked to take a leap of faith and believe in Miracles. Remember that Miracles come in all shapes and sizes. Take time to recognize the small miracles each day, it is through this recognition and alignment that these small miracles will attract bigger and bigger miracles into your life. Trust that you are safe and that the Universe is working to deliver all that you have been manifesting up to this point. Be careful not to let fear or self doubt close you off to receiving what you have created.

October 2015

Focus: Silence

Affirmation: "I am serene, no matter what is occurring around me."

This month is about living in the eye of the storm, in other words finding your inner place of peace and silence when everything around you seems to be in a state of constant chaos. Remember that you have no control of external forces, stay with where your control lies, within. Reacting emotionally to that outside yourself will only lead to suffering and struggle for you and those around you. Be still and only give that which serves the greatest good.

November 2015

Focus: Embracing

Affirmation: "I embrace and love all of my life."

This month is about embracing all that you may have denied in the past. You are being called to embrace the parts of yourself and your life that you have hidden or rejected up to this point. In order to truly live in a place of peace and acceptance you must be willing to acknowledge and accept your faults and shortcomings and willing to forgive yourself for past mistakes.

Remember it is your imperfections that have led to your growth.

December 2015

Focus: Pleasure

Affirmation: "My life is deliciously joyous."

This month is about allowing yourself to enjoy life. You often struggle with allowing pleasure and this month will be no different. You are being called to understand why you feel undeserving of fun, joy and excitement. Push yourself to indulge in things you normally deny yourself, reminding yourself of all that you have accomplished. Use this time to remember what it is like to have fun and to heal those blockages from the past that tell you, you are undeserving.
